

MODULE 1-ABOUT LABYRINTHS

EXERCISE: SELF REFLECTION

The following are questions that we suggest you reflect upon. There are no “correct” answers for these—whatever may come to you is what matters.

- What might you say if someone asked you to explain what the labyrinth is, and a little about their history?
- How would you introduce the following types of labyrinth to another person, explaining a little about their origins: (a) a Classical type, (b) a Medieval type?
- Name 5 places (buildings, public spaces, etc.) where you might possibly expect to find a labyrinth today.
